RAMS New Facilities

CSU'S NEW TENNIS VENUE
In Spring 2008, Colorado State launched the Campaign for Athletic Excellence, ushering in a new and exciting era of Rams Athletics.

For the 2010-11 season, the CSU tennis team will be provided with one of the finest facilities in the nation. The $2 million dollar facility features 12 post-tensioned concrete courts, eight of which are lighted for night play. The facility also offers a 25-foot wide viewing area, spanning the length of the complex offering spectator seating for 150 people. Each court is individually enclosed with separate access, while the pavilion offers both men and women's restrooms as well as a team room and storage area. CSU will host the Mountain West Conference Championships and also five home matches for the first time allowing fans to come out and cheer on the Rams.

ACADEMIC & TRAINING CENTER
The Campaign for Athletics Excellence also includes a state-of-the-art Academic and Training Center that will allow CSU student-athletes to succeed at the highest levels nationally, in the classroom and in athletic competition as well.

ON THE COVER

This season, seniors Caitlin Fluegge and Melissa Holzinger are expected to lead the team while returning for their senior seasons, hoping to help guide Colorado State to its goal of a national ranking in the final chapter of their college career.

THE UNIVERSITY AT A GLANCE

As one of the nation's leading research universities, Colorado State provides an excellent, accessible education, conducts research that transforms our world, and leads outreach programs that support economic vitality and improve the quality of life for people worldwide.

As Colorado's land-grant university, Colorado State was founded in 1870 to fulfill the vision of President Abraham Lincoln and others – to create access and opportunity for people in Colorado and around the world who can benefit from hands-on, engaged learning.

With more than 150 programs of study and 78 undergraduate degree programs in eight colleges – and a faculty-to-student ratio of 16.5:1 – students have access to a wealth of educational possibilities. Colorado State leads the world in disciplines such as human and animal health, clean energy and the environment, global and sustainable business, engineering, and climate research. Along with outstanding programs in the liberal and performing arts, humanities and social sciences, Colorado State offers some of the top professional programs in the country in construction management, occupational therapy, psychology, communications, and agriculture—and is home to the top-ranked public business school in the state.

Challenging academic programs and world-changing research are hallmarks of Colorado State, and it is our special commitment to service, outreach, and transforming our world through innovation that sets this university apart. Even more important, CSU's character is reflected in the quality of our students and graduates, who embody the university's mission of service and go on to make a significant impact on our world when they graduate.

We invite you to learn more about Colorado State, a university with vision, character, and a commitment to excellence.

It's going to be a great year for Colorado State University – even when the going gets tough, I'm always proud to cheer for our Rams!

A strong, competitive athletics program is driven by student-athletes who embody the high personal standards, strong character, and commitment to excellence that are characteristic of a great university. At CSU, we expect that our athletes have a commitment to teamwork and success that's fully matched by their commitment to individual achievement in the classroom and to serving as a positive role model on campus and in the community. And every year, our Rams athletes meet and exceed this expectation.

Their success is important for our entire campus community. We all work hard and take life seriously – when the Rams score, it gives us a fun reason to rally and celebrate and show off our unabashed pride in all things green and gold. The success of our sports teams also helps draw attention to the university as a whole and, because we run a clean and well-grounded program, it spotlights the importance we place on key civic values like responsibility, integrity, and fair play.

While we have high standards for our student-athletes in the classroom and on the field, we also believe it is the university's responsibility to provide them – and all our students – with the tools they need to compete and succeed at the highest levels. That is why we've been investing in upgraded classroom buildings and residence halls these last few years, and why we've also recently completed a new practice facility and state-of-the-art Academic and Training Center, which offers student-athletes quality weight-training facilities paired with study environments, computer labs, and academic support needed to help them balance the demands of coursework and competition.

Like our fans, we have high expectations for our athletics programs, and we're confident in the leadership of our coaches and Athletic Director Paul Kowalczyk, who work to keep our programs competitive, transparent, and high-quality. Colorado State is extremely fortunate to have an intensely loyal fan base, and success on the court or on the field is a great reward to our supporters. But our greatest reward is the success that we all share when the young men and women in the Rams jerseys graduate and go on to achieve great things in their lives after CSU.

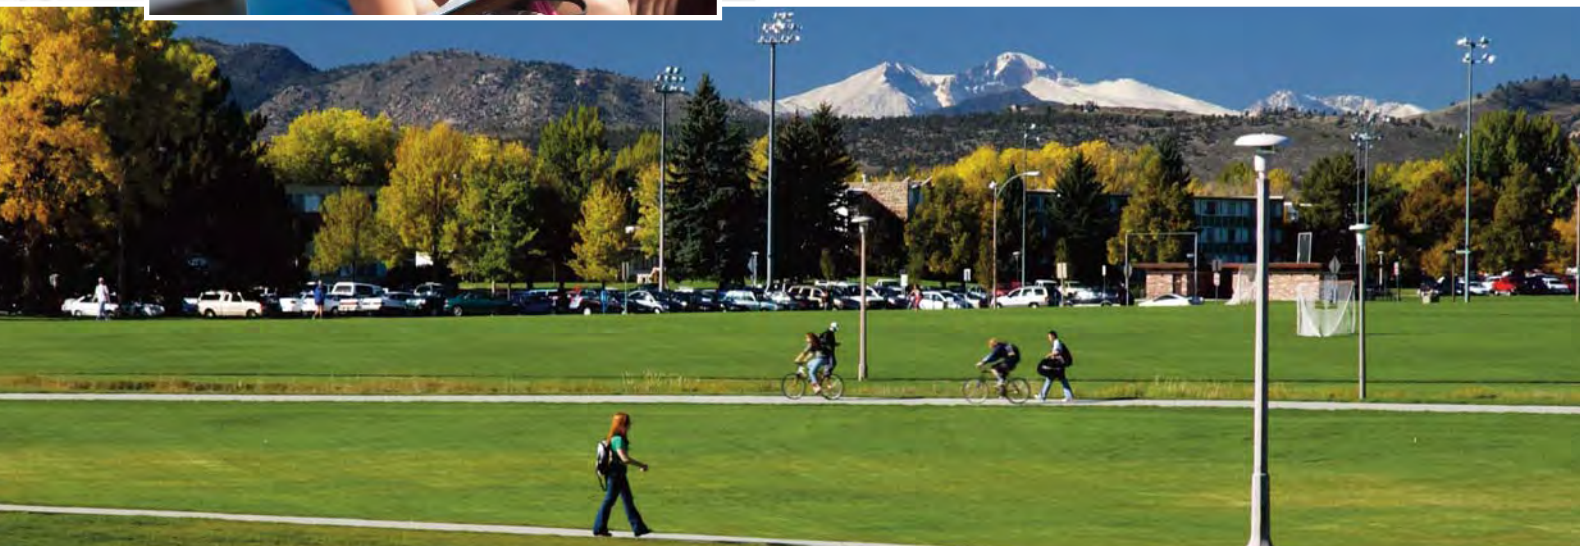

On behalf of Colorado State's students, faculty, staff, and alumni, I thank you for your continued support of Ram athletics.

Go Rams!

Dr. Anthony A. Frank
President, Colorado State University

COLORADO STATE

Colorado State University takes very seriously its role in educating student-athletes. Excellence is expected on the field and in the classroom.

The most recent NCAA academic statistics reveal that Colorado State leads the Mountain West Conference in graduation rate for student-athletes at 66 percent – well ahead of the conference’s overall student-athlete graduation rate of 57 percent. In football, Colorado State is second in the MWC, graduating 68 percent of its student-athletes – again, well ahead of the conference average of 49 percent.

Colorado State, however, is not resting on its reputation for graduating its student-athletes. The state-of-the-art Anderson Academic Center, which will greatly enhance the academic facilities available for student-athletes, opens in August 2009.

While the athletic department takes its role in the educational process very seriously, Colorado State’s mission to provide a world-class education is at the core of academic success. U.S. News and World Report ranked Colorado State in its top tier in its annual “America’s Best Colleges” report. The university offers 79 majors and 27 minors, and many of its programs are ranked among the best in the country.

Colorado State continues to push forward in its mission to provide the best possible education. Construction recently was completed on the state-of-the-art University Center for the Arts and Computer Science buildings, and the Indoor Practice Facility, Academic and Training Center, and the College of Business’ Rockwell Hall expansion soon will be completed.

- ♦ CSU’s Veterinary Medicine program ranks second in the country and is the national leader in federal research dollars.
- ♦ BusinessWeek ranked CSU’s undergraduate College of Business program 67th (up from 73rd in 2008). The program ranks 30th among all public schools and 14th among all colleges and universities in the West and Southwest. The marketing and business law programs were ranked in the nation’s Top 10 by the magazine.
- ♦ In December 2008, CSU conferred its 150,000th bachelor’s degree and 200,000th overall degree.
- ♦ According to NCAA statistics, CSU’s graduation rate for student-athletes is higher than the graduation rate for the overall student body.

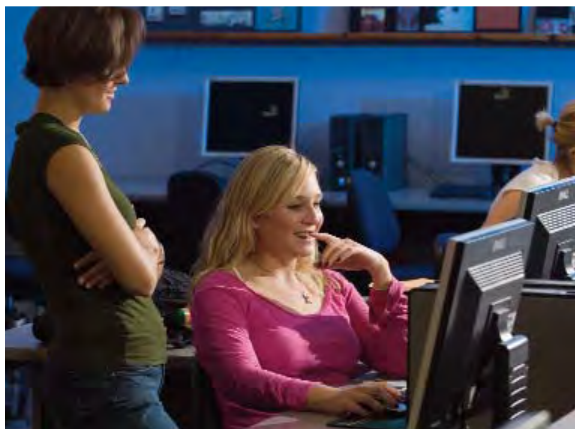

Laura Neal, the Rams’ No. 1 singles player last season, graduated in 2010 with a 4.0 GPA and a degree in health & exercise science. An ITA Scholar-Athlete, she has enrolled in graduate school and plans to become a physical therapist.

CSU strongly believes in experiential learning, giving students hands-on experience in the field.

FORT COLLINS & COLORADO

One of Colorado's most vibrant cities, Fort Collins is the best place in the country to live, work and play. Located on the northern Front Range of the majestic Rocky Mountains, the city is within an hour's drive of Denver, the nation's 25th-largest metro area.

This city of 137,000 residents basks in 300 days of sunshine per year — more than San Diego and Florida — and includes the historic Old Town district with its restaurants, shops, and entertainment, all within walking distance of Colorado State University's campus.

Since its founding as a military fort in 1864, Fort Collins has anchored northern Colorado's rich heritage of academic, business and recreational pursuits. Hiking, mountain biking, kayaking, river rafting and rock climbing are just a few popular outdoor pursuits for students and residents.

The city maintains more than 600 acres of parks, 5,000 acres of natural areas, 20 miles of off-street trails for hiking and biking, and three golf courses. The Lincoln Center and the University Center for the Arts, anchored in Fort Collins, are northern Colorado's cultural arts centers.

FORT COLLINS FACTS

- ♦ No. 1 place to live in the United States (Money magazine, August 2006).
- ♦ No. 1 Best Place to Live and Work for Young Professionals (population 100,000-200,000), Next Generation Consulting, March 2009.
- ♦ No. 2 in Forbes magazine's best United States cities for business and careers (March 2009); Denver ranked 14th and Boulder was 20th among five Colorado locations in the publication's top 40.
- ♦ One of the Top 20 Places to Thrive (Best Boomer Towns, February 2009).
- ♦ Ranked 10th-best educated city in America (Forbes magazine, November 2008).
- ♦ One of the Best Places to Raise Your Kids (BusinessWeek, November 2008).
- ♦ Gold level Bicycle Friendly Community (League of American Bicyclists, September 2008).
- ♦ The fifth-largest city in Colorado, with a population of 137,000.

PAUL KOWALCZYK

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS (KENT STATE '80, '86)

Director of Athletics Paul Kowalczyk has placed Colorado State's program on an ambitious path toward national prominence with his insightful and visionary leadership.

Kowalczyk is in his fifth year leading CSU's program, demonstrating an unmistakable commitment to the university after signing in 2010 a five-year contract extension, through 2015. From the moment he arrived on campus in 2006, he has shown a leadership style that is steady and consistent with ambitious goals clearly established. Under his watchful eye, a foundation has been built to cultivate long-term success throughout the program. With the foundation firmly in place, Colorado State's program stands on the threshold of taking a bold step forward nationally to reach "stretch goals" established by the Board of Governors when Kowalczyk arrived.

Perhaps nothing better illustrates the progress toward prominence that CSU's program has made during Kowalczyk's tenure than the changing skyline surrounding Moby Arena and the McGraw Athletic Center, both of which serve as centerpieces of the athletics department.

During the summer of 2009, CSU opened two state-of-the-art athletics facilities that are visually prominent to any avid Rams fan upon arriving on campus.

A training facility includes an indoor football practice field plus basketball and volleyball practice courts, adjacent to Moby Arena. Also, a new academic and strength and conditioning center is next to the McGraw Athletic Center.

Over the last year-plus, Kowalczyk also has stewarded significant upgrades to Sonny Lubick Field at Hughes Stadium, including a $2.5 million landscaping initiative following the 2010 season that will make the venue's grounds at the base of the Rocky Mountain foothills even more attractive. Additionally in the last two years, Kowalczyk oversaw improvements to several CSU team locker rooms, and this fall, has spearheaded a $1 million project that will furnish Moby Arena with new state-of-the-art video boards.

The two new facilities, along with upgrades to CSU's stadium, arena and McGraw Athletic Center offices, make CSU's resources among the finest in the nation. Those additions and improvements also have made CSU competitive nationally while enhancing the institution's image across a broad spectrum.

The facilities represent one of Kowalczyk's primary goals when he was appointed to his position at CSU. Almost immediately upon his arrival, he worked closely with campus leaders to develop the facilities initiative.

"These buildings show that Colorado State is unmistakably serious about achieving its stretch goals," Kowalczyk said. "Combined with the recent renovations at our football stadium, this puts us where we need to be in terms of offering quality, state-of-the-art facilities for our coaches and student-athletes, those who are here now and those who are thinking about coming here."

The facilities, along with recent contracts he negotiated with Russell Athletic (apparel and uniforms), Under Armour (footwear), and a deal with the University of Colorado to keep the Rocky Mountain Showdown at Invesco Field for the long-term future, also reflect Kowalczyk's commitment to excellence throughout the program.

"Average is simply not good enough," he said. "We must continually find ways to improve every aspect of our program while meeting the needs of our student-athletes and providing resources for our coaches -- not just to compete, but to win, and do it while serving the university, the community and the region."

Soon after Kowalczyk's arrival in Fort Collins, he worked closely with the Board of Governors of the Colorado State University System and the university leadership to set in place a set of "stretch goals."

"The support of the board and campus administration, which was there every step of the way, was critical," Kowalczyk said. "We have leadership on this campus that not only recognizes the importance of investing in athletics, but also what a successful athletics department can do for the university."

While the entire program under Kowalczyk's guidance has moved forward with the completion of the facilities, he readily admits there are more challenges that lie ahead.

"We will never stand still. We will continue to move forward. As a program, we will strive for excellence in every area, just as we challenge our student-athletes in competition and in the classroom.

"Our efforts will always include continually and diligently working to expand our ticket and Ram Club donor base as a means to generate additional revenue and scholarship fund support."

Colorado State's expected emergence nationally has provided followers of the program optimism and excitement.

Kowalczyk brought a wealth of experience and knowledge to Fort Collins when he was named the school's 16th Director of Athletics on April 11, 2006, after having served for six successful years in the same capacity at Southern Illinois University.

In the spring of 2008, he was named to the prestigious NCAA Division I Leadership Council, an advisory body to the Division I Board of Directors. The council identifies issues important to the future of Division I and offers its expertise in defining appropriate action items. Reappointed in June 2010, his current term expires in 2014.

Kowalczyk also remains involved in NCAA, NACDA and MWC activities.

During his tenure at SIU, he led the Salukis' emergence into a successful, nationally renowned athletics program, including 15 conference championships in seven sport programs.

Before his tenures at CSU and SIU, he was senior administrator at Northwestern University during a time in which the Wildcats program enjoyed national success. He also served as assistant athletics director for business operations at Kansas State, business manager for athletics at Portland State, and assistant to the associate athletics director at Kent State.

Kowalczyk holds a master's degree in sports administration and a bachelor's of business administration in accounting from Kent State University.

A native of Warren Ohio, Kowalczyk was inducted into the Warren High School Distinguished Hall of Fame. The award recognizes and honors individuals for their achievements and performance. In 2004, he received the National Football Foundation's Gen. Robert R. Neyland Outstanding A.D. Award, and in 2006 was named the Athletic Director of the Year for the Division I-AA Central Division. Kowalczyk in 2010 concluded a four-year term on the NACDA Executive Council, representing District 7.

JON MESSICK

HEAD COACH | 26TH SEASON AT CSU
(SWARTHMORE '73, METROPOLITAN STATE '86)

Women's tennis at Colorado State University is synonymous with the coaching and leadership provided by veteran mentor Jon Messick. Now in his 22nd season as head coach of the Rams women's tennis team (and 26th at CSU), Messick has patiently, diligently and intently guided Colorado State's program into the most successful era in school history.

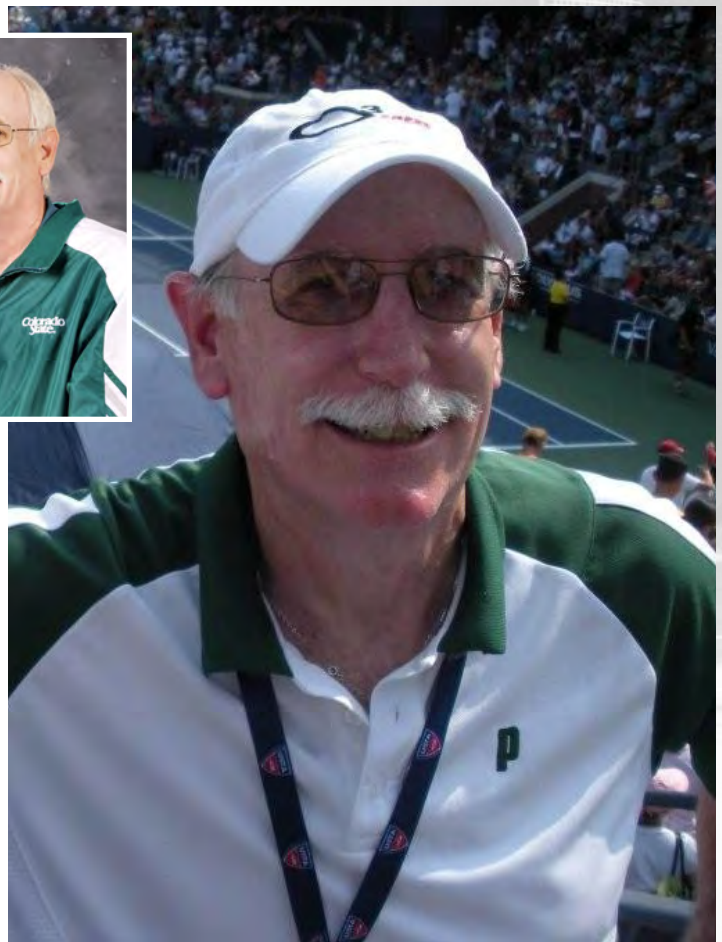

Colorado State's program won a first-round conference tournament match for the third time in its history during the 2009-10 season, defeating New Mexico. The Rams won their previous first-round match in 2001, defeating top-seeded and defending MWC champion UNLV. Since 1998, the Rams have held regional rankings six times, rising as high as 11th in the 2006-07 season. In both the 1999 and 2001 seasons, the Rams were ranked 13th regionally.

During the 2006-07 season, Messick coached the Rams to 52 team doubles victories, tying a school record set in 1998-99. Also in that year the No. 1 doubles duo of Emily Kirchem and Hilary Tyler earned 22 of the team's total doubles wins, breaking a CSU record for single-season doubles victories by a tandem, and also was ranked No. 7 in the region. During Messick's reign at CSU, he has guided 12 players to an all-conference selection, two players to national rankings, and seven players and four doubles teams to Regional rankings.

Tennis has been an integral part of Messick's life for nearly 45 years. From his days of being ranked nationally as a junior tennis player, to his triumphant doubles championship wins during college, to now his 22nd year as head coach of the women's tennis program at Colorado State, Messick has made tennis a lifetime experience. During his coaching career, he has prided himself on transferring his tennis knowledge to his players, and this year is no different. On April 18, 2009, he reached his 200th career win as a tennis coach, against Air Force, and his 201st win the next day against Wyoming.

It is no surprise that Messick has made this tennis program a regional force and a team that no Mountain West Conference foe takes lightly. Messick has taken a struggling program and led the team to new heights of success, including its first .500 season in 1998-99, followed by four more winning seasons. He also has coached everyone in the Top 35 on the school's career victories list and all of the school's all-conference selections.

After a successful junior tennis career, in which he earned a No. 1 ranking in doubles play in Maryland and the Middle Atlantic Region, Messick went on to play collegiately at Swarthmore College. While in college, Messick's team won four straight Middle Atlantic Conference titles and he was the MAC doubles champion his senior year.

In addition to his time on the court, both as a coach and a player, Messick works in all facets of the tennis world. He currently serves on the board of directors of the Intermountain Tennis Association and is the chairman of the Colorado Ranking Committee. He also serves on the board of the Fort Collins Tennis Association. After the 2008-09 season, Messick was named to the USTA National Collegiate committee. He was also named Chairman of the Mountain Region ranking committee.

He was recently honored with the U.S. Tennis Association/Intercollegiate Tennis Association Community Service Award for the Intermountain Region. Messick also has received the coveted Bud Robineau Award for outstanding contributions to the tennis community. In 2005, Messick was presented the Outreach Award by the Colorado Wheelchair Tennis Foundation, and in 2007 he received a Volunteer of the Year award.

Messick has earned two degrees, one in economics from Swarthmore College in 1973, and the other in accounting from Metropolitan State College in Denver in 1986. Messick has one daughter, Briana, who competed in cross country and track at the University of Wisconsin, and now is a triathlete.

2010-11 SEASON PREVIEW

The CSU women's tennis team will return for the 2010-11 season with five of last season's top six singles players while adding additional depth with two freshmen joining the team.

Last year the Rams showcased a young team, and they lost only one high-level player from that squad, graduated senior Laura Neal. All returning players have potential to play high in the lineup and it is anticipated that there will be a strong level of competition for the top positions.

The 2010-11 CSU schedule will feature seven nationally ranked teams. The Rams are excited to dedicate a spectacular new tennis facility, and welcome several teams to Fort Collins, including a rare fall tournament at home. In addition, CSU will host the 2010-11 Mountain West Conference championships.

The $2 million facility features 12 post-tensioned concrete courts, eight of which are lighted for night play. The facility also offers a 25-foot-wide viewing area, spanning the length of the complex, offering spectator seating for 150 people. Each court is individually enclosed with separate access, while the pavilion offers both men's and women's restrooms as well as a team room and storage area.

This season, seniors Caitlin Fluegge and Melissa Holzinger are expected to lead the team.

"Caitlin struggled a little with consistency last year," Head Coach Jon Messick said, "but she performed at a very high level in several of her strong wins. With a little more confidence she will improve tremendously this year."

Last season, Tori Arneson and Fluegge combined for 27 singles wins and 17 doubles wins, while Veronika Wojakowska recorded 16 doubles wins.

Holzinger returns after having the best won-loss percentage on the team last year at 16-10. She also began setting records in her first season with the Rams, tying three others with nine dual wins as a No. 6 singles player.

Lauren Mulhern

"Melissa led the team last year on the singles court at the No. 4 through 6 positions," Messick said. "If she can move up in the line up and continue to be successful, she will help elevate the teams performance."

The Rams also welcome back three juniors, adding additional experience, in Arneson, Lauren Mulhern, and Wojakowska.

"Tori proved last year that she can hang with the top players in our conference," said Messick. "Look for her to reach her potential this year and contend for all-conference honors."

Mulhern also had a strong season, carrying the team-high of 17 singles wins last year for the Rams.

"Lauren was by far our most improved player last year," Messick added. "If she continues to improve at the same rate, she will be a strong contender for the top of our lineup."

Wojakowska, finishing the season with positive momentum, posted 16 wins with three doubles teammates.

"Veronika has the raw talent and ability to excel this year," Messick noted. "She has gained valuable experience and confidence that we expect to lead her into a solid year."

The balance of the lineup for the Rams will include freshmen signees Lauren Pick and Kaley Schultz, talented youngsters expected to step in right away, possibly contributing significantly to the Rams' success.

"Lauren is a strong all-around player who can develop into a very consistent performer at the college level," said Messick. "Kaley on the other hand comes from the strong Southern California area. She is used to competing against strong opponents and she also has well-developed skills on the doubles court."

While last year's team ended the season eighth in the conference, this year's team expects to improve upon last season's performance. Last year's No. 1 player, Neal, will be the only player not returning, due to graduation. Although her contributions will be missed, this year's team will be more experienced and as talented as ever.

2009-10 SEASON REVIEW

The Colorado State tennis team finished its season last April in the Mountain West Conference championships with an 8-15 record (2-8 MWC). The Rams finished eighth in the conference and earned a first-round victory against New Mexico.

Last season, CSU saw a tough field that consisted of five ranked teams. The Rams began the season with a loss to Denver, but bounced back to earn three consecutive victories at home, against Portland State, Montana and Northern Arizona. CSU played its first top-ranked opponent, No. 56 Nebraska, on Feb. 26, and No. 26 Tulsa in the same road trip, falling to both in competitive fashion.

CSU returned three experienced players that gave the team 19 wins in the dual season at the Nos. 1, 2 and 3 positions. With a healthy roster all season, CSU captured 79 total singles victories, including 15 wins at the No. 6 position.

However, the Rams did not experience the same success in doubles during the dual season. CSU began 17 dual matches down 1-0 in the team score after falling in doubles competition. The Rams still managed to defeat three opponents after dropping the doubles point.

For the first time since 2007, a CSU tennis athlete was named MWC Player of the Week. Team captain and Portland Ore., native Laura Neal won that honor for her performance against Northern Arizona on Feb. 14. Last season Neal moved to sixth all-time in doubles victories, winning 13 matches with partners Tori Arneson and Caitlin Fluegge at the No. 1 position. She also led the Rams in all matches playing at the No. 1 position in singles.

Coming off an impressive and successful freshman season, Arneson, from Ogden, Utah, earned 21 total victories. She competed the entire season at the No. 2 singles position with eight wins. Also, Arneson saw action at the No. 1 and No. 2 doubles position with three partners, Lauren Mulhern, Neal and Melissa Holzinger, winning five dual matches.

Holzinger, a junior transfer from Cleveland State, climbed into the record book in her first season in a Rams uniform, tying for fifth all-time in career dual wins at the No. 6 singles position with nine. Holzinger finished off her season leading in dual victories with 16, playing at the Nos. 5 and 6 positions. She also compiled eight doubles victories playing with Mulhern and Arneson during the dual season.

Leading the Rams in overall singles victories was sophomore Mulhern. Mulhern earned six wins during the fall tournament season and 11 victories during the dual matches, playing at the Nos. 4, 5 and 6 positions, after playing a limited schedule in 2008-09.

Finally Veronika Wojakowska, a Bradley University transfer from Colorado Springs, finished the season with 16 doubles victories, a team best. Wojakowska competed with three teammates, earning nine dual wins at the No. 2 and No. 3 positions. Wojakowska also earned nine dual singles wins, 12 overall, competing at the Nos. 4, 5 and 6 positions.

In 2010-11 the Rams will return five of their six starters and gain two new freshmen that have made a name for themselves at the high-school level.

Off the courts, the CSU women's tennis team showed off a different side to dedication presented on the courts, this time to its schoolwork. The team was recognized as an ITA All-Academic Team with three players recognized with ITA Scholar-Athlete honors (Neal, Arneson, and Holzinger).

Kids Day

Campus Showdown

Community Outreach
As a team, the Rams women's tennis team contributes approximately 120 hours of community service during the school year. The Rams student-athletes support the Larimer County Food Bank at their annual tennis tournament and participate in the First Serve Program with the Boys & Girls Club.

Kids Day

First serve at Boys & Girls Club

They also conduct clinics for local middle-school athletes. Other events include the ITA Campus Showdown and the ITA Kids Day programs.
