Mother Nature and Father Time

You know that from the beginning of time people have depended on Mother Nature,
Or call it what you may, the blessings of the wisdom of producing what all life needs.
It is quite apparent that there are many sides to Mother Nature,
And also there is a pact between Mother Nature and Old Father Time who says I can wait.

One of the signs of Mother Nature is the setting of the course to produce the necessities of life, air, water, and food. From there goes the hand of man for the other things of life some hold so dear.

At the beginning of time there must have been plans that nature and time would play.
Nature in the production of the necessities of life, Father Time to claim what is left to recycle for use at another day.

Now it is quite apparent that the wisdom of man has had a part to play in the adapting of things to help nature on the way.
As we all know many things of nature will use the helping hand of man.
Man can be selection and care route nature along the way. To increase the yields to change or give Nature a nudge in some way for the use of man and the people of all the lands.

Now Nature can be kind or Nature can be cruel.
She can help to produce what's needed by man, or by one stroke can take it away in many forms.
To play with the clouds of earth and the winds globe, causing what's good or producing what's bad.
To take away the precious drops of rain needed by man and beast and plants too, or add so much as to wipe out all the efforts of man.
To produce tranquility or ferocity strange to man.
Tis strange how the people of the earth all depend on Mother Nature.

Also there is sitting Father Time, who's time started long ago.
The one that watched what has gone on since the beginning of time.
You know I recon Father Time was there for the big bang. He has been around ever since to watch the great earth untold.
To see the formation of the earth for people to use.
To watch the universe being formed the immensity beyond mere man to behold.
To see the giant mountains formed and the valleys below.
The rivers, lakes, and streams and the fertile lands that produce the needs of man.
So to me, it seems among the many things that are we must consider what Mother Nature can do. For good or for bad, but only she has the say.

And the part Father Time does play.
He who has watched the earth since it began and seen all the changes that had to be has watched the civilizations come and go. The people in the mighty battles to control all of the great leader of the day who tried to fashion what would be. All the great masses of the unrecognized, the rich and the poor (which most of them are). Those just in the middle in the stream of life wishing for a better day.

From where I sit, the time each has on this earth to do whatever our lot might be, is very short at best, and is very much controlled by Mother Nature and Father Time who with his scythe, says I have time to wait. So don't think the world you will change to fit your opinion of what should be when the passing of time is but a wink away.
