Reclamation Awards Construction Contract for Dolores Project Landfill and Protective Dike

Secretary of the Interior William Clark today announced that a $2.7 million contract for the construction of the Dolores Landfill and Protective Dike, part of the Dolores Project in Colorado, has been awarded by the Bureau of Reclamation.

Monaco Contractors, Inc., a minority firm from Scottsdale, AZ, will receive $2,754,622 through the Small Business Administration for the job, which is located in Montezuma County.

Some of the work to be performed at the site will include placing approximately 30,000 cubic yards of riprap on the reservoir side of the Dolores Sewage Treatment Plant; building a protective dike; furnishing and installing approximately 500 feet of metal pipe; laying 500 cubic yards of gravel road surfacing; replacing about 2,000 cubic yards of coarse gravel protection for culverts and highway shoulders; and landscaping. The work should take approximately 1 year to complete.
