
Questionnaires On Student Activities Are Tabulated

By Gordon O'Brien

The Student Council had questionnaires circulated last week to find out the type of social program the students preferred, and to get the sentiments of the college as a whole concerning the introduction of fraternities and sororities.

It was felt this was necessary if your Student Council was to plan Spring quarter’s activities, (to the best interest of the students) with what the students wanted.

“Do you believe we have enough dances per quarter?” Exactly half of the 200 students polled felt we had enough, and that there was no need for more variety for noon dances. The other half believed that there should be more variety. As most of us live but do not realize that we are living, it is not too bad to have a little teasing to remind us of life.

If you have enough dances per quarter? Exactly half of the 200 students polled felt we had enough, and that there was no need for more variety for noon dances. The other half believed that there should be more variety. As most of us live but do not realize that we are living, it is not too bad to have a little teasing to remind us of life.

These Past Weeks . . . .

You may feel that you have seen some strange specimen and believe that Mesa College has changed camps for this quarter but, to those who are comparatively new to this campus, we might purport an old saying and declare: "You ain't seen nothing yet."

If you should happen upon students wearing something new and would not care to accept the conclusion that we are being blitzed by a new style rage, it's just that spring dress that is becoming a more evident as the days warm up. It is very possible to you that there are big things in the area around Mesa.

In the past weeks it has been the board growing content by members of the "M" club. There yearly "Before and After," was then the costume ball that found people running around the halls of Mesa in everything from "Harlequin" to "Chinese" costumes.

Then was the night that the "M" club held their initiation for all new members. Pie contests were the principal thing for that night.

In a week all the students of Mesa will be coming back to school at night dressed in their very best, formal clothes, ready for an evening of dancing enjoyment and pleasure. This is a fore-runner of the week that follows.

You have or will see these things in the next week or so that is left in the quarter, but as we said before, "You ain't seen nothing yet!"

We have the old feeling that fraternities and sororities will be coming into their own at Mesa next quarter and then pulsing will commence, and we assure you there won't be a dull moment.

...and Next Week

It seems to be just about that time of the year again. Quarter finals are ahead, and certainly not forgotten. Congratulations were in order of the week for the freshmen who will begin their first favorite gripe concerning the final grades they received, which (if below an A) are usually the result of incompentence in teaching, or in theory.

This time of the year marks the biannual attack on classes, professors, grading systems and the educational system in general. Grades are THESE thing during this period. Comments concerning the system of grading flow to and fro over cups of coffee and furnish a wealth of material for ball sessions. Strangely enough, students, who supposedly are solely interested in acquiring an education that presupposes the absorption of a certain amount of knowledge, rather find the time or the occasion in these sessions to mention just what they happen to be learning in the past quarter.

The emphasis is entirely on the grades, along with detailed analysis of how they happened to be what they were and whether the professor made his error in awarding the grade. The grade is THE thing. Of course, a quite concrete argument can be advanced to the effect that the grade has to be the thing since our educational system relies basically on grading. However, the extent of knowledge acquired should receive some consideration.

At any rate, "grade gripe week" will spend itself and everything will return to normal for another quarter.—KPM

QUESTIONAIRES

"Can you name at least three of your class representatives?" This question was asked in the following way: "Tell us your name, where you live, and which club you belong to." The results were as follows:

"Irish" was the Theme of Assembly by A. W. S.

All the traditional games were up on a Monday morning with the big-triad and it was plain to see that they had been celebrating St. Patrick's Day. After eating breakfast, the Irish theme was in full swing with a future date on the calendar. In the middle of the day, the "Irish" theme was the order of the day for the assembly presented Wednesday by the Class of 1932. The theme was "The Green and White." The men center theme was "The Blarney Stone," and the women's theme was "The Day's Work and White Assembly." The Lone Echo was dressed up in Irish clothes and featuring "Irish" games.

The scene took place in a night club, "The Fogarty," and the audience was provided seating with two scrub womenf fering drinks. Inter-Acting with the stage was a woman who was the Irish theme. A student will come in for the main parts. This consisted mainly of singing with a little music in between. The music was on a set book, and the people were entertained by the performers who used the Irish as their theme.

The MESA COLLEGE CRITERION Assembly featured an all-girl cast. It was another in a series of these assemblies sponsored by the organizations around Mesa college.

Do Fraternities and Sororities Elicit A So-Called Dictatorship?

We Think Not

Let's look at the article published last week in the Criterion. Do fraternities and sororities run a school? WE THINK NOT. In the first place competition is evident among them. Moreover there is support, the same candidate, almost they will present more candidates than what your cliques (which are already in school) and this is very evident) have already COLLEGE PREPARE THEM.

As far as a fraternity or sorority being a clique, and people may be black balled, sure we are they are a clique, to see the article's week. Do the other organizations, party, the Elks club, the Masons, and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. We believe whoever wrote the article in last week's Criterion would, if he could, join a so called clique, gladly, by the way, do belong in an organization? Why, if a person can belong to a clique, why not that? (The greater majority of people who oppose fraternities and sororities are people who already are in one of the cliques in Mesa, and therefore are afraid that they might lose a little prestige by a little competition.)

First of all the author says that fraternities and sororities will run the school. To do such a thing, you have to have the same things. We have to have the same thing. How do we get these fraternities and sororities in? Then you turn around and say they are a minority?

These fraternities and sororities would be strictly local. No national organization would be involved. They would help the incoming freshman to adjust himself to college life, to have an interest in campus affairs, to exonerate himself from the back of futility that these activities would promote academic standards, so that they could join your academic fraternities and sororities. They would be a load off the Student Council, in worrying about athletics and so forth. By that we mean, your organizations say you being a clique what group isn't? Now, if he could, join a so called clique. IN YOUR ESTIMATION, morale at Mesa, then they can dig that GRAVE and open the coffin that now holds the dead spirit of Mesa. FRATERNITIES AND SORORITIES ARE THE ANSWER TO THIS dead spirit of Mesa.

Mesa Grabs Second Place in S.C. Conference

Mavericks Clinch Second; In Colorado Jr. Conference

After the Maverick quintet had roosted on top of the league for the major part of the season, a double loss to La Junta, followed by a heartbreaking loss to Trinidad, found our boys fighting to salvage second place in the conference. Salvage it they did, when they defeated their rivals, Ft. Lewis, 53-48, last Saturday evening. The scoring was evenly distributed among the regulars, with Scott leading the parade with thirteen points, Doane slipping in twelve, Hillia firing for eleven, Shultz swishing ten, and Olsen driving for fourteen.

Spectator reports indicate that the cheering was reason and reason, and that the closeness of the final score was a credit to the reserves in the final quarter. The game was played in Durango, Coach Tolman arranged to fly down for a late evening game. The Monarch Air Lines so that the team would be in the best possible condition. The results proved that his rushing paid off. The team re-turns to Colorado early Monday morning by air.

Sports Prattle

The basketball squad asked the Crit staff to congratulate the faculty for their splendid support throughout the year. Especially last Saturday at the airport. Also orchids to the two girls who were there to send them off.

Who was that beautiful girl we saw you with last Saturday at Durango? Guess we all can't have relations named Floyd.

Our Mavericks with nineteen wins and five losses for the season are ranked as one of the top teams in the Inter-mountain Tournament despite the fact that they lost to La Junta and ended up in the runner-up spot in the Colorado League.

Several of the coaches in the league have commented that Mesa was robbed of the coveted crown by La Junta on their floor. The squad has a similar outlook, and hope to show it at the tournament either by playing the Rattlers, or winning, or by ending up ahead of them.

Believe it or not, not one of the squad got sick on the airplane trip to Durango, even though they were all eating candy and drinking pop due to a two hour delay, because of the dense fog over the field.

We hope the assembly last week didn't frighten too many students out of the halls. But let's find out what other students think of the assemblies and let us know how they could be improved.

Myron Hagen—I like the majority of the assemblies. I think they are all right now. They pass away and I can't see much change though.

Bill Mcintyre—I think the assemblies have improved a great deal since last year. But first it was seared performances, now it's more special performances.

Barbara Curry—I like them the way they are. I really enjoy attending them.

Harry Hoff—I like them they can't see much change though.

Ron Hutto—The assemblies are all right now. They pass away and I can't see much change though.

Bill McIntyre—I think the assemblies have improved a great deal since last year. But first it was seared performances, now it's more special performances.

Bob Hannegan—I like the majority of the assemblies. I think they were dry at first but have improved since.

Male Views on Many to Exclaim 'Not Of Their Many Faults'

Ed. Note: Last week the "Crime" cast a very special story on what "WOMEN" think men are. This week the men, populace of Mays, take their stand against the women. As aside from the obvious fact that men are as good as women, the actual trouble is that women are less extraneous and their imposing antics are horridly.

From a high powered Johns, the announcement to the boys that they know their contrived hydroplaning everything is too, too amusing can be led, or a dance floor then proceeds to lend. She can every capably take over any parties or can, in addition, revelling with-in masterpiece.

The 30's can be added to several Rosalind Frankenstein, the proper one. Her efficiency and undiscouraged, personality resembling with anything had in Madame Curie's science laboratory. We then have the attention-getting, taffeta blouse designed to produce a staggeringly effective hold among discerning worship. We have the woman who is always wanting to introduce someone to someone, seemingly possessed with the idea that everyone must know everyone. On the other hand, consider she who is unapproachable.
