Artist Statement

Miles Black

As an artist, I strive to create design work that has an incorporation of fine art. Starting my artistic career as a painter, I studied form and color in depth, which are now the elements I focus on in design. I believe design has become extremely rigid and simple, motivating me to combine my artistic skills with computer tools to create true art for the business world. Through my design, I plan to send positive messages and work for progressive companies that are working to make a change for the better in this world. Design is everywhere, and through this art form I can see endless possibilities in the future.

GEORGE ORWELL.

Orwell wrote literary criticism, poetry, fiction, and polemical journalism. He is perhaps best known for his dystopian novel Nineteen Eighty-Four (1949) and the allegorical novella Animal Farm (1945). His non-fiction works, including The Road to Wigan Pier (1937), documenting his experience of working class life in the north of England, and Homage to Catalonia (1938), an account of his experiences in the Spanish Civil War, are widely acclaimed, as are his essays on politics, literature, language, and culture. In 2008, The Times ranked him second on a list of "The 50 greatest British writers since 1945".

1984

Winston Smith is a low-ranking member of the ruling Party in London, in the nation of Oceania. Everywhere Winston goes, even his own home, the Party watches him through telescreens; everywhere he looks he sees the face of the Party's seemingly omniscient leader, a figure known only as Big Brother. The Party controls everything in Oceania, even the people's history.
