Artist Statement:

Diane is a graphic designer and illustrator from Montana, though she has lived in a lot of different states. She enjoys bugs, board games, dessert, and drawing. They got their start in drawing when they discovered cartoons and loved how much narrative art can have. They very much enjoys bringing in some elements of narrative and character into her work. She also enjoys working on colorful and imaginative illustrations in addition to dynamic design projects. Diane loves receiving and conceptualizing work that has meaningful ties to community and social justice and they are especially passionate about using design to apply and promote change. Their work is mostly digital, but they love adding a touch of physical media, whether that be watercolor, colored pencil, or gouache paint.
