Students in the oboe and bassoon studios at Colorado State University participate in a variety of ensembles, including bands, orchestras, chamber ensembles, and more throughout their time on campus. They are also regularly engaged in professional experiences throughout Northern Colorado, teaching in their own private studios and school settings and performing with regional symphonies and community bands. The students heard here this afternoon include oboists and bassoonists currently enrolled in applied lessons for the spring 2026 semester. Applied lessons and ensemble opportunities are available for all double reed players at CSU regardless of major. For more information about double reed events and opportunities, please contact Dr. Cayla Bellamy-Lanz, bassoon (cayla.bellamy@colostate.edu) or Dr. Galit Kaunitz, oboe (galit.kaunitz@colostate.edu).
