INTRODUCTORY NOTES

- This report is part of a new CSAL series of reports on instructional staff employment in higher education. It updates and replaces the previous series titled Faculty and Graduate Student Employment. The new series includes instructors without faculty appointments and graduate teaching assistants in the measures of contingency, as explained below.
- Instructional staff consists of faculty, instructors without faculty appointments, and graduate teaching assistants working at accredited colleges and universities.
- The new series focuses on instructional staff rather than faculty, including instructors without faculty appointments. These instructors are a significant component of the instructional staff at many colleges and universities.
- The new series includes graduate teaching assistants as part of instructional staff. GTAs either assist faculty and instructors, typically including teaching recitation sections or labs, or they teach their own courses like non-faculty instructors. In either case, they teach students and support the instructional mission of their college or university.
- Almost all faculty members are categorized as instructional staff, even at research-intensive universities. The new series stops reporting on the very small number of faculty members who are categorized as something other than instructional staff, e.g., as research or service staff.
- Almost all tenured and tenure track faculty members are full-time; consequently, this report does not separate out full-time and part-time employment of these faculty members. In contrast, the report breaks down non-tenure track faculty employment into part-time and full-time because both categories are significant.
- The new series includes two measures of contingency. The first is the faculty non-tenure track rate. It shows the percent of faculty members who are off the tenure track. The second is a broader measure called the contingency rate. It shows the percent of total instructional staff that is off the tenure track.
- Data source: IPEDS, the Integrated Post-Secondary Education Data System, online at <https://nces.ed.gov/ipeds/>. IPEDS is the main federal data depository on higher education. The sample includes all accredited colleges and universities in the United States, as indicated by Title IV eligibility, with Carnegie classifications as associates' degree colleges, baccalaureate colleges, masters' degree universities or doctoral universities. It excludes medical schools and other specialized schools.

2014 REPORT HIGHLIGHTS

- Among all public and private non-profit colleges and universities in 2014, 64% of faculty was off the tenure track (the faculty non-tenure track rate) and 72% of total instructional staff was off the tenure track (the contingency rate). Instructional staff employment at private for-profit institutions was almost entirely off the tenure track.
- At all colleges and universities, the faculty non-tenure track rate and contingency rate were similar in the public sector and in the private non-profit sector. However, there is considerable variation between sectors by educational level.
 - At doctoral universities, the public sector has a much lower faculty non-tenure track rate (44%) than the private non-profit sector (57%). Contingency rates are similar (65% in the public sector and 67% in the private non-profit sector).
 - At masters' degree universities, the faculty non-tenure track rate in the public sector (52%) is considerably below the rate in the private non-profit sector (69%). There is also a large sectoral difference in contingency rates (59% in the public sector versus 76% in the private non-profit sector).
 - At baccalaureate colleges, the two measures of contingency are similar in the public sector and the private non-profit sector. Faculty non-tenure track rates are about 57% and contingency rates are about 62%.
 - At associates' degree colleges, private non-profit colleges show much higher measures of contingency (both about 96%) than public colleges (both about 81%).
- Non-faculty instructors comprised 11% of total instructional staff at all colleges and universities. The fractions were smallest at doctoral universities (3%) and highest at associates' degree colleges (18%).
- 29% of non-tenure track faculty members was full-time in 2014. The full-time fraction of non-tenure track faculty was highest at public doctoral universities (45%) and private non-profit baccalaureate colleges (40%).
