

Kyla Hammel

Aberrations: Borrowed Light

Artist Statement:

My photography is not intended to describe a factual event, but rather to explore how emotions surface when people interact with an evocative variable, light. I use my family members in my photographs because it allows me to make deeper emotional connection to my work and creates a more intimate description of who they are.

Artist Biography:

Kyla Hammel was born in Fort Collins, Colorado in 1991. Most of her childhood years were spent living in the Rocky Mountains or on the plains of Northern Colorado. She was continuously surrounded by overpowering landscapes that were open backyards for her and her five siblings to explore. Eventually those open spaces became her escape and are frequently reflected by her photography. She began college at Colorado State University in 2009 and then studied in Italy in 2012, which is where her pursuit of photography came to the forefront of her art. Her recent work explores the interactions between the human form and the landscape.

	Media	Original Format
Figure 1:	Photography	Pigment Print 24x30 in.
Figure 2:	Photography	Pigment Print 24x30 in.
Figure 3:	Photography	Pigment Print 24x30 in.
Figure 4:	Photography	Pigment Print 24x30 in.
Figure 5:	Photography	Pigment Print 24x30 in.
Figure 6:	Photography	Pigment Print 24x30 in.
Figure 7:	Photography	Pigment Print 24x30 in.
Figure 8:	Photography	Pigment Print 24x30 in.
Figure 9:	Photography	Pigment Print 24x30 in.
Figure 10:	Photography	Pigment Print 24x30 in.
Figure 11:	Photography	Pigment Print 24x30 in.

Figure 1

Figure 2

Figure 3

Figure 4

Figure 5

Figure 6

Figure 7

Figure 8

Figure 9

Figure 10

Figure 11